TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE LORDS OF THE COMMITTEE OF HIS MAJESTY'S
MOST HONOURABLE PRIVY COUNCIL FOR TRADE, &c.

MY LORDS,

IN laying before your Lordships Part III. of the Tables of the Revenue, Population, Commerce, &c., of the United Kingdom, with the compilation of which I have been charged, it appears necessary to explain why it has been found necessary, in the present instance, to depart from the plan originally proposed, viz., to prepare, in each year, a collection embracing the occurrences of the year that will have just passed.

The interest excited by the appearance of our first collection of Tables, comprising the occurrences of twelve years, from 1820 to 1831, inclusive, caused so great a demand to be made for copies on the part of Members of the two Houses of Parliament, as well as by various public functionaries, that the liberal number which was printed has for some time been altogether exhausted, and the demand continuing urgent, it became necessary to reprint the volume. Under these circumstances it was thought most advisable by your Lordships to embody, with the annual compilation for 1833, the matter contained in the parts previously printed; and, accordingly, the volume, which I have now the honour to lay before you, will be found to comprise the whole of the Tables contained in the two previous collections, continued and brought down to the end of 1833. This arrangement will, it is hoped, be found to render the work more convenient for reference than it would have been had the Tables been divided into three separate volumes, embracing different periods of time. But for the extent to which the collection has thus been necessarily carried, it would have been ready for presentation a considerable time before the prorogation of Parliament, and in future, when the annual volume will again be principally confined to a record of the occurrences of the preceding year, it will be completed so as to be made available by Members during the Session. Within the first week after the meeting of Parliament in the present year, a Statement was presented exhibiting an Abstract of the Custom House Accounts of Imports, Exports, Consumption and Shipping, to the 5th of January, 1834, and a similar compilation will always be ready for presentation in future years at an equally early period; but it will not be possible to procure detailed and accurate Statements in the form wherein they are here presented, so soon after the close of the year, nor, indeed, before the annual books of the different departments are made up and balanced.

It has been always intended that advantage should be taken of the occasion of our annual compilations, to embody with them authentic information of a Statistical nature which might be practically useful, in addition to the record of the year's occurrences. Accordingly it will be found that the present occasion has been used for the introduction of a considerable amount of new matter, which has been gathered together since the last volume was printed, and which appears calculated to be either interesting or useful in itself, or to throw additional light upon some of the questions involved in the former volumes.

Perhaps the most important statements now, for the first time introduced into our compilation, are those which exhibit the general view of our commercial intercourse with every part of the world, particularizing the Imports from and Exports to each Foreign Country, as well as the Trade between the United Kingdom and its Colonies and Dependencies. The information furnished by these statements cannot fail to be importantly useful to the Legislature in the consideration of all Commercial questions; and it is therefore highly satisfactory that, through the exertions made by Mr. Irving, the Inspector-General of Imports and Exports, these statements have now been brought down to a period one year nearer to the time of their appearance than on any former occasion. The arrangements whereby this end has been accomplished, will enable that gentleman to be equally forward with similar statements in future years.

Another kind of information, now first introduced, is that which relates to the Statistics of Foreign Countries. The particulars of this kind, to be found in the present volume, are, for the most part, compiled from answers returned by his Majesty's Consuls abroad to a series of questions prepared and sent to them by your Lordships' directions, and which related principally to matters of Trade, as being most important to be known in this kingdom, as well as being that kind of information which Consuls are best fitted and able to obtain.

The Trade of our numerous Colonies with this Kingdom, with Foreign Countries, and with one another, is a subject of such vast importance, that, as your Lordships are aware, steps were long since taken to procure authentic statements with regard to it. Correct Returns have now been received from all the Colonies, for the year 1832, by the Inspector-General of Imports and Exports, and have been arranged in a tabular form. These will be immediately placed in the hands of the printer, together with such other authentic statements, of a Statistical nature, connected with each Colony, as is in possession of Government, and the volume containing them will be very shortly ready for presentation. It was hoped that accounts of the Annual Income and Expenditure would have been transmitted from each Colony, in such a form as to have been easily made available for insertion in our compilation; but notwithstanding the endeavours used by the Treasury Department to that end, it appears that the Returns for 1832 have not been made with that degree of clearness and uniformity which fits them for this purpose. It is expected that the further explanations and directions, which have since been forwarded to the officers in the Colonies, will have the effect of remedying this defect, and that the accounts for 1833 will come forward in a more desirable shape, so as to be embodied in the next annual volume, compiled in this office for the use of Parliament.

The importance that attaches to every circumstance connected with the growth and progress of Crime in the community, rendered it in your Lordships' opinion most desirable to embody, in the volume now laid before you, all the information of an official nature which is procurable on the subject. It is greatly to be regretted that the amount of this information should hitherto have been so scanty, and at the same time so defective in its nature, as to throw but little effectual light upon this vitally important subject. By means of the Returns herein contained, we are indeed made acquainted with the total number and the nature of accusations made at the bar of criminal justice in each year, and with their results in England, Scotland, and Ireland, respectively; but, with the exception of London and Middlesex, as to which separate Returns are given, we are not enabled to trace and compare the progress of crime in different sub-divisions of the kingdom, nor have we any information whatever with regard to the ages of delinquents, nor as to the proportion of the sexes among them in those sub-divisions.

To remedy these deficiencies as far as possible, your Lordships, in February last, directed that a letter should be addressed to the Secretary of State for the Home Department, requesting that steps might be taken for supplying information upon this important subject, and forms of Returns were, at the same time, transmitted, by adhering to which the requisite knowledge would be afforded. It will be satisfactory to know, that in the Criminal Returns hereafter to be presented to Parliament, these points of information, so desirable both morally and politically, will be given, together with some further minor particulars which it is not necessary to explain at present. I cannot, however, refrain on this occasion from venturing to repeat to your Lordships my conviction of the desirableness of proceeding still further than has yet been done, in the improvement of our Criminal Returns. It should not be difficult to ascertain and to classify prisoners with reference to the amount of education, if any, that has been bestowed upon them—specifying whether they are able or not to read—whether they can read and write—or whether they have received a degree of instruction superior to mere reading and writing. If these particulars were given, in connexion with the detail of the offences charged, the light thus thrown upon the subject of moral Legislation could hardly fail to be highly beneficial to the country.

It would be scarcely less useful, although it might perhaps be attended with some little difficulty at first, to ascertain the professions of criminals; not, indeed, with much minuteness, but dividing the population into a few well defined classes. By this means the comparative moral tendencies of different pursuits might be ascertained, and correctives might be applied with greater hope of reaching the evil, than at present attends the best considered efforts of the Legislature. Another point which it seems desirable to attain, is the distinguishing of those among the accused who have previously been convicted of crimes, registering the number of convictions which they have undergone, and the nature of their previous crimes and punishments, by which means we should be enabled to form some judgment with regard to the efficacy of the restraints and punishments at present enforced. It is well known that many persons obtain their living entirely by the pursuit of criminal courses, and it is therefore probable, that, as regards the less serious class of delinquencies especially, the number of criminals may, without such an explanation as has been here suggested, be incorrectly given in the Tables, although the amount of crime may be truly stated.

In the Criminal Returns annually compiled in France, all the information here alluded to is given with great minuteness of detail; and although it may be true that the different regulations of the police in that kingdom afford greater facilities to this end than are possessed in this country, it is still probable that a great deal may be done here towards the perfecting of Returns which may be made to exercise so great and beneficial an influence upon our moral condition as a people.

Among other advantages contemplated by your Lordships, in causing periodical compilations of this nature to be made, it was hoped that many Returns which had usually been called for by Members of the House of Commons would no longer be demanded, and that considerable expense and labour would, by that means, be saved in the different departments. This advantage has been, in a great measure, realized, fewer Returns intended to elucidate particular subjects having been called for during the present than in preceding Sessions, while it cannot have been felt otherwise than as a great assistance generally to Members of both Houses of Parliament, thus to possess systematic and comparative statements presenting a full view of each subject, instead of those desultory and partial Returns, which, being frequently required to answer some purpose of the moment, might consequently be so framed as to mislead rather than inform, by presenting partial or incomplete views of matters as to which the Houses were called upon to legislate.

I have the honour to be,

My Lords,

Your Lordships' most obedient and very humble Servant,

G. R. PORTER.

The apparent difference between the sum of the individual amounts in this Account and the total produce of each year's collection, arises from the omission of all fractional parts of a pound. The above statement is taken, as regards the years 1820 to 1823 inclusive, from the Fourteenth Report of the Commissioners of Revenue Inquiry. For subsequent years, recourse has been had to the Finance Accounts annually laid before Parliament.

* This falling off in the number of ships is only nominal. The numbers returned in previous years were not corrected for the New Registry Act (6 Geo. IV. c. 110).

* This falling off in the number of ships is only nominal. The numbers returned in previous years were made up of all vessels admitted to registration, and which were assumed to exist until evidence to the contrary was produced. The New Registry Act (6 Geo. IV. cap. 110.) obliged the Owners of all vessels to register them anew, and the return of the year 1827, being founded on the new registrations, must necessarily be correct. It may be deserving of remark, that while the amount of Tonnage, belonging to the British Empire, has for many years continued nearly stationary, the Foreign and Colonial branches of our trade have been progressively increasing. There is no reason to suppose that other parts of the Empire have experienced any falling off in the amount of their commercial operations, and this fact may therefore be taken to exhibit the increasing degree of celerity with which this branch of national industry is now conducted.

OBSERVATIONS.

The above proportion is that between the British Shipping and the aggregate Burthen of Vessels, considering that aggregate as unity.

The aggregate Burthen of 1831 was stated in the former Returns at 1,902,038, the Norwegian Tonnage having been given up in Lasts in lieu of Tons. Correcting this mistake, the aggregate Tonnage is increased to 1,959,722, as above stated.

^a No general Account of the Trade between Ireland and Great Britain can be rendered for the period subsequent to 1825, the commercial intercourse between the two Countries having, from the termination of that year, been assimilated by law to a coasting traffic. The particulars of Imports and Exports, exhibited in the foregoing statement for 1829, are consequently, with two exceptions, confined to the direct trade with Foreign Parts; the exceptions being, in the list of Exports, the article of Corn, which is exempted from the general tenour of the Coasting Regulations; and in the list of Imports, the article of Coals, which is subject to a Coasting Duty.

NOTE.—The view which this Statement affords of the Average Consumption of the Periods, terminating on 5th January, 1830, and 5th January, 1832, is to a certain extent defective, inasmuch as the Coasting Regulations, by which the Cross Channel Trade has been governed since the year 1825, prevent the keeping of any record of Goods imported Duty Free from Great Britain, either in the case of British Productions, or of Foreign Merchandise, upon which Duty Yarn, Raw and Thrown Silk, and Unwrought Iron.

The Consumption of Tea in Ireland cannot be ascertained for any Annual Period later than the year ended 5th January, 1828, a regulation having been established in the course of the following year, which requires that Tea, destined for Consumption in Ireland, shall be charged with Duty in Great Britain previously to its delivery from the Warehouses.

The Consumption of Coals cannot be shown for any year subsequent to 1830, it having ceased to be ascertainable on the discontinuance of the Coasting Duty.

No. 262.—STATEMENT of the RATES of DUTY chargeable on the following ARTICLES consumed in IRELAND, during the Triennial Periods, terminating on the 25th of March, 1790 and 1800, and the 5th of January, 1810, 1820, 1826, and 1830, and the Biennial Period, terminating on the 5th of January, 1832, respectively, viz. Wine, Spirits, Foreign and Home Made, Tobacco, Tea, Coffee, Sugar, Flax Seed, Cotton Yarn, Cotton Wool, Woollen and Worsted Yarn, Silk, Raw and Thrown, Iron Unwrought, Timber, Deals, and Coals.

* In the year 1828 there was a great scarcity of Potatoes in Leinster, and also in the South of the Kingdom. In Connaught there was a great abundance, from whence there was brought by the Royal Canal to and towards Dublin 22,291 Tons 16 Cwts., which seasonable relief could not have been afforded but through the medium of this Navigation, and for which the Company only charged 2s. 6d. per Ton. The principal Commodities conveyed to Dublin by the Royal Canal are Grain, Meal, Flour, Butter, Potatoes, Eggs, Turf, Timber, Bricks, and Stone. Merchandise of every description is forwarded from Dublin.

The Rates of Exchange formerly assumed for converting Indian Currencies into Sterling Money were as follows:—Bengal Current Rupees at 2s., 116 Current Rupees being equal in value to 100 Sicca Rupees; Madras Pagoda at 8s., each Pagoda equal to 3½ Madras Rupees; Bombay Rupees at 2s.

The foregoing Rates are now altered, and Indian Currencies are converted into Sterling by estimating the Bengal Sicca Rupee at 2s., and considering 106½ Madras and Bombay Rupees to equal 100 Sicca Rupees.

The latter part of the foregoing statement, from 1829—30, inclusive, has been estimated according to the rates newly adopted, which will account for the great apparent difference between that and the former part of the statement.

Pickers	12	0	10	10	9	9	5	8	4	8	0	9	7	6	9	7	0	6	3	These are the net earnings of weavers, taken on the average of each year, after deducting 2½ pence in the shilling for winding the warp, 2½ pence in dressing the warp, and other outgoings. Of these deductions the greater part is for winding, which is generally done in the family. The principal articles of manufacture, and the earnings of men of ordinary skill, working 12 hours per day, have formed the basis of this statement. A considerable portion of the weaving of plain goods is performed by women and children, and their earnings will be according to their strength and skill.

NOTE.—In comparing the Prices at different Periods, as here stated, it is necessary to take into account the Rates of Discount allowed in reduction of the price: e. g.

German Steel Handsaws, in 1798, cost 50s. with allowance of 15 per cent. discount, leaving the actual net price 42s. 6d.

The same article, in 1833, cost 64s. with allowance of 42½ per cent. discount, so that the actual net price was only 36s. 10d.

No separate account is kept of the number of Calves sold, but only of those brought into the market, the average of which for the last ten years is 21,526, exclusive of those denominated Sucklers, and which are generally sold with the Cows.

The number of Horses brought to the market for sale is estimated to be from 12,000 to 13,500 annually, but no account is kept of the number sold, it not being obligatory to register the sale.

No account is kept of the total number of Pigs sold in the market, but only of those chargeable with the toll, viz. those sold by non-freemen, brought from places where no exemption from the payment of the toll is claimed.

The annual average number for the last ten years on which Toll has been received is 23,980, and is presumed to be about 2-5ths of the whole number brought for sale.

(1) Masons, Bricklayers, Labourers, and others engaged in Building, work Ten Hours per Day from 1st March to 1st November, and from that to 1st March Seven Hours per Day, during which latter period their Wages are reduced, and the average is as given in the Table.

(2) Although Masons, Bricklayers, Plasterers, Labourers, and others engaged in Building, are thrown idle during Frost, their Wages through the Year amount to the foregoing average when they are employed. When a Labourer's Wages are equal to the price of a Peck of Oatmeal, it is considered that he can fairly support his family.

(3) Plasterers', Slaters', and Plumbers' Wages are not reduced during Winter.

(4) The Wages of Blacksmiths, and other Trades not specified, are not reduced during Winter.

(5) 4-4th Cambric is frequently wrought by Boys or old Men, who can make 7d. per Day. The Prices quoted for Weaving are what the Weaver nets per Day, after deducting 3d. for Loom-Rent, Reddles, Brushes, Dressing, Coal and Candle; and it appears from an Account taken from the Books of different Manufactures, that steady Weavers have netted these Wages throughout the respective Years, on an average of Twelve Working Hours per Day.—Winding Weavers' Pirns. This is generally done in the Weaver's family; a Woman can wind for three Weavers, and she can make 3d. per Day by each Weaver.

(6) In the Glasgow Calenders the best workmen are engaged for a Year, the others from Week to Week. The state of employment of the Calenders is, perhaps, the best criterion that can be had of the state of Trade at the time; all the Goods sent off to the different Markets, with a few exceptions, passing through the Calenders.

(7) When Coals are retailed in small quantities, 1d. per Cwt. is charged as the retailer's profit.

(8) From 24th December, 1814, to 14th January, 1815, Tobacco was retailed at 8½d. and Snuff at 7½d. per oz. At that period the quality of Tobacco in the Glasgow Market was very bad.

(9) At this rate Children are taught Four Hours during Five Days in the Week, and Two Hours on Saturdays.

On an average, a moderate Workman (with twelve hours' labour per day) will make twenty-seven pairs of Women's 24-gauge-hose per week; this twenty-seven pairs, calculated at the above rates of labour, will, in the several years above stated, make the workmen's weekly wages as under:

	1819	1820	1821	1822	1823	1824	1825	1826	1827	1828	1829	1830	1831	1832	1833
The expenses of the stocking maker, in finishing his work, so as to receive the above rates of labour, average 3s. weekly; * deduct this, viz.	15/9	15/9	14/6½	13/6	12/5½	11/9¾	14/6½	11/9¾	11/3	11/3	11/3	10/8¼	10/8¼	10/8¼	11/3 which is the average clear weekly earnings of 10,000 of the frame-work knitters employed in Leicestershire during the last fifteen years; the clear weekly earnings of the other 4,000 have always been higher, and have varied at different times; sometimes being 20 per cent. more than above, sometimes 40 or 50 per cent. more.

The article of the 24-gauge plain worsted hose is the best criterion by which to judge of the general rate of labour, and it may be safely relied upon as an index to the average clear weekly earnings of two-thirds of the frame-work knitters, the other third have been constantly receiving much better wages; their weekly earnings being from 20 to 50 per cent. more.

* N. B. A moiety of this 3s. (which the stocking maker expends in preparing his work) is generally earned by his family, as it is work which children can do.

No. 366.—POPULATION of NEWCASTLE ON TYNE and GATESHEAD, at each of the Four Decennary Periods ending with 1831.

	1801	1811	1821	1831
Newcastle	28,294	27,587	40,393	55,922

BILLS OF MORTALITY FOR 1833.

Number of Baptisms in Newcastle, 1,642—decrease as compared with the preceding Year, 67
„ Marriages „ 798—increase „ „ 34
„ Burials „ 1,568—decrease „ „ 818
„ Baptisms in Gateshead, 463—decrease „ „ 11
„ Marriages „ 207—increase „ „ 37
„ Burials „ 403—decrease „ „ 218

The number of Burials both in Newcastle and Gateshead, for 1833, corresponds very nearly with those of 1831, and hence the extraordinary decrease as compared with 1832 may be taken as a near approximation to the extent of the cholera ravages in Newcastle and Gateshead, in that intermediate year.

The Market price of Gold in 1801 was 85s., and in 1811 was 96s. per oz. The average proportions of Expenditure for the Relief of the Poor, and for Duties and Taxes during those periods are not, therefore, correctly shown by the within Account when taken in comparison with the like payments in 1821 and 1831.

If the depreciated currency of the two former periods is reduced to its Standard Value according to the Mint price of Gold, the actual average proportions will be reduced as annexed.

N. B.—The Classification of Offences in the several Provincial Returns is not entirely uniform; and besides, offences of frequent occurrence in some parts of the Kingdom are almost unknown in others; that of "Turning up Land," for instance, has never taken place in the Northern Counties, and offences arising out of Party Processions are equally unknown in the Southern; hence the apparent anomalies of the foregoing Recapitulation.
